White Cland

VOLUME IV .-- NUMBER 24.3

WHITE CLOUD, KANSAS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 20, 1860.

THE FIRST OF DECEMBER.

The vine still clings to the mouldering wall,

The day is cold, and dark, and dreary;

It rains, and the wind is never weary;

But at every gast the dead leaves fall, And the day is dark and dreary.

My life is cold, and dork, and droup;

WHOLE NUMBER, 180.

Choice Poetry.

SWOWBALLING.

SY JOSIE S. BUNT.

The selt, house gold of her tresses Is straying about her face, and the wind through its silken meshe is running a frollesome race.

Her violet-eyes—how they darken and flash! Mer rose-red checks-how they glow! As she stands, ankle-deep, in the milk-white drifts, Pelting me with the snow. The tosses the soft finker around her, In her pretty boydenish play, Till the looks like a sea-nymph rising Element the billows of form and spray. The molds the balls with her little bare hands; Do you think she would pout or scold, If I nestled the pink palms down in my breast, To warm them !- they look so cold!

Her white weel mittens are flung on the snow, Each one in itself a finke; And ber silken scarf beside them lies, Coiled up like a crimson anake. All about me, the tracks of her soft brown feet Sare printed the downy snow; And I know by them where, another Spring. The prettiest flowers will grow.

The laughe and scoffs when my enowballs fly Harmiess over her head, And she flirts her curls in a saucy way, And cropches in missic dread-She calle me a sorry marksman An awkward fellow-and still The sly little witch knows well enough

She knows I would sooner think Of tearing a butterfly's wing, Orbesting a lify, or throttling The first sweet robin of Spring, Then of aiming at her in earnest, Or hitting her if I could, Or harming so much as a tassel Of her little scarlet hood.

It isn't from lack of skill.

Car beautiful Madee! Oh, what would she do If my mouth was half as bold As the crystals which fall on her lips and her hair Like pearls among rabies and gold? Will her pride and her willfulness trample my love. As her light feet have trampled the snow? That the missiles she flings, which are ice to my face, Are fire to my heart, does she know!

Sweet tense! does she gness I am wondering now, In the long, long future before us both,

Anythrag more to me, Than a little hoyden, with wild, gold heir, Who stands, ankle-deep, in the milk-white drifts, Miscellancous.

DOESTICKS ON DISUNION.

I have the latest intelligence from Bungtown, and hasten to give it. First, copy for you a letter from my friend General Bomb L. Bee. It reads as fol-

I should recommend that Miss Columbia, the Goddess of Liberty, have very little to do with Mr. Abraham Lincoln for the the present, as I am not quite satisfied that his intentions are honorable. Abraham is not fair to Bungtown-and Bungtown has claims on Abraham that cannot, that must not, that shall not be ignored. Bungtown has a slave population-not a numerous one, 'tis true, be ing only one sixty year old limping darkey, who was owned in Virginia by Major Colonel Stubbins, who brought him to Bungtown because he couldn't sell him, and the law didn't allow him to turn him loose in the road. Still, small though the slave population of Bung town is, she feels that she is in danger; she knows that the time has come when insurrections are to be feared, and murder, arson, rape, treason, and other population, including petit largeny, playing the accordeon, and contempt of court, will be rather fashionable than otherwise. as follows : Bungtown is resolved to be true to herself. Bungtown has taken immediate depe-Bungtown is prepared-Bungtown will resist the uprising of her slave population to the last gasp.

The inhabitants of Bungtown have now been under arms for four days and nights, and they are becoming anxious .-Pompey Julius, our slave population, has 1 Fiddler not arisen yet; he has not rebelled; he has not insurrected-quite the contrary. When the call was issued for volunteers, Pompey Julius was the first man to come forward at the ominous tap of the horrid drum. He brought his fiddle he thought there was going to be a dance. Owing to the prompt action of our gallant brigade of Minute Men, under the command of that distinguished officer, General Bomb L. Bee, our entire elave population has been surrounded disarmed, and put under guard. This military evolution was performed without the loss of a man, and elicited the lighest commendation from the general. He made his army a speech—he compli He made his army a speech—he complimented them on their bravery, on their steraness, on their patriotism and on their if Ido, I'll be terribly avenged, I'll be steraness." devotion. The army cheered the general. Our slave population also cheered-be thought it was a good joke. The general in his speech, raised a horrible thought—he suggested that the instrument resembling a fiddle, that our slave population had in his hand, was an nfernal machine. No sooner had he said this, than the circle around Pompey Julius enlarged greatly. Our slave population gave a grand hurrah—he thought they were clearing a ring for a fight. Our gallant military retired rapidly to the distance of half a mile; here they were rallied by the general, who hailed the slave population with a trumpet, telling him to put his fiddle into the greek, and hold it under water for two hours. Gen. Bomb L. Bee to A. Lincoln-Ao. 3. in the public square, our slave population velling all the time with joy-he thought it was a bonfire, and he knew he had bought the fiddle on trust and never paid for it, and he hoped somebody would dotation of our elave population has been searched, and all incendiary implements, documents, and combustibles have been removed. His habitation was a loft over a stable, and all the furniture was an arm . ful of straw, a three legged stool, and a fish-pole. General Bomb L. Bee said our slave population might use the straw to fire our houses. Mayor Squidge said, "Burn it." The general suggested that, with the stoo! our slave population might knock out our unsuspecting brains in our innocent sleep. Mayor Squidge said, Burn it." The general hinted that with the fish pole our slave population might break the jaws of our lovely wives, and with the fish line he might hang our prattling babes on lamp-posts. Mayor Squidge said, "By all means, burn 'em!" So they were removed, under a strong escort, to the public square, and burned, our slave population kicking up his heels with apparent delight—he thought some one would give him a new stool and an

So far Bungtown has nobly stood up for her rights and has taken care of her own safety. What shall be the ultimate result of all this, remains to be settled by correspondence with Lincoln. If Lin coin will purchase our slave population, and set him free; if he will recognize Bungtown as the metropolis of the coun try, and if he will give Bungtown men those prominent positions in the national council to which they are by right entitled, Bungtown will consent to remain a member of the confederacy. If he will not do these things, let him take heed to him self-on his own head be the awful consequences, for then the cry will be "Se cession !" "Disunion !" and Bungtown will secess-Bungtown will disune-the stars and stripes will be trailed in Bungtown mud, and the Bungtown flag (one of from some bloodthirsty abolitionist his wife the misfortunes they were about clam, rampant, in a sea green field) will receive sough to destroy us all One to share. He suspected the cause of dis wave o'er the fragments of this dissever-

Yours, Bomb L. BER. When the Bungtowners got thus far, they began to telegraph to Abraham.— The telegraphic correspondence I have seen, and it runs as follows:

A. Lincoln to General Bee. "You be hanged. A. LINCOLE." Mayor Squidge to A. Lincoln-No. 1 "I want the Postmaster-Generalship.

A. Lincoln to Mayor Squidge.
"You be hanged. A. Lincoln."

Julius, being sixty years old, and work ed a ltttle at almost everything, estimated his value, and sent the bill to Lincoln as follows: Col. Stubbins to A. Lincoln-No. 1.

"Of course you are prepared to pur chase and liberate our slave population. amusements cherished among the negro The slave population of Bungtown be

1 Boot-black, value Chimney sweep Wood sawer 1 Drayman Musk-rat catcher Stable-cleaner 1 White-washer 1 Carpet-shaker 1 Fisherman

Total value of slave population "Send a check for the amount, and my papers as Secretary of State, and Bungtown shall remain in the Union.

M. Stubbies." Lincoln to Stubbins-No. 1. "You be banged. A. Lincoln." Stubbins to Lincoln-No. 2. "Never mind about the Secretary

'You be hanged. A. Lincoln.'

Stubbins to Lincoln—No. 3, and last. Lincoln to Stubbins-No. 2. "Never mind the two handred-sen Lincoln to Stubbins - No. 3, and last.

"Please, sir, I'd like to be Postmaster of Bungtown, "Respectfully, K. SQUIDGE."

"You be hanged. A. Lawcous."

to lim a new one. By order of Mayer Squidge, the habiother fish pole.

ed Union. General Bomb L. Beeto A. Lincoln-

"After you have made me Secretary of War, you had better make Stubbins your Secretary of the Interior, and Squidge your Secretary of State. Lientenant Ketch would be a good Postmaster-General, and I should recommend Squire Bilkey as Attorney General. They are all of Bungtown, and all have my confidence. Boms L. Bes."

K. SQUIDGE.

Col. Stubbins, whose darkey, Pempey longs to me. The inventory and value resolved to repudiate as soon as Bugwille things: "Now, it these properties of the slave population of Bungtown is and Jollop return from New York. Bugbeen of your grit, they would not be ville and Jollop are the storekeepers of driven out."

State. Send the cash. M. STUBBIES.

"Hanged. A. Limoous." K. Squidge to A. Lincoln-No. 2, and

A. Lincoln to K. Squidge-No. 2, and

Gen. Bomb L. Bee to A. Lincoln-No. 2. "No matter about the rest-make me Secretary of War. Bous L. Baz." A. Lincoln to Bomb L. Bes-No. 2. "You be hanged. A. Lingoous."

This was to damage the concealed powder. Pompey obeyed the order, and at the end of the time the fiddle was burned land.

"I ain't particular about staying in this country—send me Minister to English the end of the time the fiddle was burned land.

Bous L. Bes."

A. Lincoln to Bomb L. Bes-No. 3. "You be hanged. A. Lincoln." Bomb L. Bee to A. Lincoln-No. 4. "Never mind, old fellow-make me J. S. Marshal in this district.

BOMB L. BER." A. Lincoln to Bomb L. Bee-No. 4. "You be hanged. A. Lincoln." Bomb L. Bec to A. Lincoln-No. 5. "All right, nobody offended. A small lace in the Custom-House will do.

BOMB L. BEE." A. Lincoln to Bomb L. Bee-No. 5. "You be hanged. A. LINCOLN." Bomb L. Bee to A. Lincoln-No. 6. "I forgive you, Abe. Give me a lit le clerkship somewhere. Bous L. Bur.'

A. Lincoln to Bomb L. Bee-No. 6. "You be hanged. A. Lincoln." Bomb L. Bee to A. Lincoln-No. 7. "DEAR ABRAHAM: "Send me ten dollars, and say no more bout it. BOMB L. BEE." A. Lincoln to Bomb L. Bee-No. 7. "You be hanged. A. LINCOLN." Bomb L. Bee to A. Lincoln-No. 8. "I say, Abe, haven't you got a pair of old breeches that you don't want? If so send 'em along, and consider me ever, "Your humble, grateful servant, BOMB L. BRE." A. Lincoln to Bomb L. Bee-No. 8. "You be hanged. A. Lincoln."

General Bomb L. Bee received the last dispatch from Lincoln, he called out the military again and made a speech. In the midst of the exordium, a terrified messenger rode up, and gasped out:—
"Strychnine—poisoned—slaves!" and the poor man without it, but with it he was then fell down in a a fit, previously thrusing into the heads of the general a box sold and expert towards him and confidence in the day, and they had approached near no better evidence that this grand design moves the whole machinery. Senator Green's speech last spring told us as much be signs from many of the Southern States, are pointing at the same result.—
Well, if they are not done with Kansas in good circumstances. The colonel was sing into the heads of the general a box sold and expert towards him and confidence in the whole of the general a box sold and expert towards him and confidence in the whole machinery. Senator Green's speech last spring told us as moves the whole machinery. Senator Green's speech last spring told us as much be signs from many of the Southern States, are pointing at the same result.—

Well, if they are not done with Kansas yet, it is time to know it. One thing it concealed in one corner of the habita-tion of our slave population. Every-body was horror struck, for everybody jected. Sleep afforded him little conso-thought our slave population had receiv-lation that night, but he talked over with corner of the fence, fast asleep. The appeal.

amiable propositions to hang him and to burn him alive were vetoed, and Mayor to Kansas?" inquired the colonel. Squidge's suggestion, to make him eat the poison, was unanimously accepted.

Our slave population was confronted by Gen. Bomb L. Bee with a drawn sword, and compelled him to swallow the box He did it without objection. After he had done it, he made a re mark. stooped over him to hear it. It was as ollows:

"Gness de white folks all done gone bow, and den make him eat de rozum." Our slave population was right. It was not strychnine; it was rosin. He was permitted to go to sleep again. Here ends my last dispatch from my things out till I came." friend, the general; but I have heard from other sources that the Bungtonians them all out before I got back." are prepared to secede. They are to begin, as all the Southern States do when hey talk of secession, by swindling their matter over."

Northern creditors out of their honest dues. They called a public meeting, and $2.500 Bungtown, and had gone to New York 2.500 to buy all the goods they could get trus-2.500 ted for. When B. and J. returned, it is molested, and his furniture soon stood needless to say that they entered heartily as firm as before. The best of the story into the scheme. They could only get is, the man was from Wisconsin, and credit for about $300 worth of goods; his relatives are living in Canada; but but they were thankful for small favors. he wanted to prove the sincerity of this Bungtown will repudiate and secode as J. B. decree, and he had done so. I

oon as the goods arrive.

Bungtown has also resolved to make evidence unmistakable. soon as the goods arrive. eprisals on Northern men. They have Another instance is given where the just caught a tin peddler from Maine, came to a house in which a lady was siek. She had a child but two days old, ery woman in Bungtown has four tin Mayor were playing a friendly game of "seven up" for the wagon—the winner to treat the erowd. Truthfully, Q. K. PHILANDER DOSSTICES, P. B. P. 8 .- I have just beard that the New York merchants refused to send the goods without the cash; so, for the present, Bungtown is safe. sd. LATEST FROM THE GREEKAL. "Our slave population yawned in his sleep—when he was immediately arrested by the guard, and sentenced to receive six dozen lashes—yawning being a wellknown abolition stratagem.

Boun L. Ban."

P. S .- A stranger was just detected giving our slave population a chew of tobacco. He was at once arrested as a sympathizing incondiary abolitionist, and will be broiled alive to-morrow.

"Oh, Geminil" exclaimed a husband whose wife presented him with twins.

And the days are dark and dreary. Be still, sad beart! and come repining;

Some days must be dark and dreary.

Thy fate is the common fate of all-

Inte each life some rain must fall-okee Land settlers :

It rains, and the wind is never weary; My thoughts still aling to the mouldering past, And the hopes of youth fall thick in the blest, Outrages in Southern Kansas.

It is told by many citizens that the dary, they might all go back and stay agent manifested the spirit of a brute on their farms, and he would not molest through the whole affair. He is said to them—thus making his own edict supebe a native of Georgia, and whenever he rior to a law of Congress. was assured by any settler that he was from a Slave State, or would prefer a nut-shell. Slavery is warring against slave State to any other, he was not melested and his house was passed by. Thus, conquered a peace, still the South now for a space of ten miles over the burnt seeks to wrench from us a strip of our district there may be seen a house burnt consecrated soil, under the subterfuge of on the left, one saved on the right—one an Indian treaty. They want it to go burnt here, another left there, as if all pow- with an Indian Territory on the South, er was in the agent's hands to save or de- where Slavery already exists, and seem stroy. One incident is related that must to think that if our Territorial officials be embalmed. I heard the same from at will sanction the scheme that the soverleast ten different gentlemen, and the facts eigns will give up the contest. It may "You be hanged. A. Lincoln." will be sworn to if desired. An old gen-There is at present a cessation of tele-graphic hostilities; but the Bungtown the progress of these incendiaries through led them into this delusion. We want ers are awake and stirring. As soon as the day, and they had approached near no better evidence that this grand design ting into the hands of the general a box cold and crusty towards him, and gruffly may be relied on. After all the other in of some white substance. He had found replied that he would have a visit in the sults and approbrium the oligarchy has universal ery of vengeance arose against criminations made in favor of certain famour slave population, and a simultaneous ilies previously, and resolved to try the rush was made by our gallant soldiers experiment rather than submit willingly and our population upon our slave pop- to the Federal ordeal. In the morning ulation. He was found curled up in a he called upon the agent and renewed his

> Where were you from when you came "From Missouri," was the answer. "Where shall you go to if you are driven out ?" "To Arkansas, down on Soldier Creek." "Have you friends living there?" "Yes, all the friends I have anywhere are down there." "Well, Sir, you had better go back home, and I'll come along there soen, It was supposed to be his dying con- and we'll talk the matter over-but fession, and General Bomb L. Bee you need not put out your things until I come." The man went home, but he found that his wife in her alarm had carried out all mad. Dey burn up nigger's fiddle and the furniture before his return. He let it remain, however, and in due time the Colonel and his posse came along.

"Well," says the Colonel, "what is all this for ? I told you not to get your

"I know you did, but my wife had "It's no matter; just get in and ride with me a little ways, and we'll talk the

He did so ; and, after a very chat, the colonel remarked, among other resolved to repudiate as soon as Bugville things : "Now, if these people had all teakettles, and all the children have play-houses in new tin wash-boilers. They pointed out a line of duty; but this Georhouses in new tin wash-boilers. They pointed out a line of duty; but tank destricted and feathered the peddler; have gis monster ordered her carried out on a raffled off his horses; and, at the last bed and laid upon the prarie, and then, accounts, the Justice of the Peace and the Mayor were playing a friendly game of to the dwelling. It is said that Capt. Sturgiss, who had command of the Company, shed tears on this occasion. The to be.

"Just so," was the reply.

Well, dearly beloved reader, this is a husband was absent from home during the occurence. I heard still another versien of the cause of his partiality, in burning the houses, which I am not prepared either to confirm or deny, but will pass it along unindersed. It is said that the agent burnt the houses of all those Hurrah for Link—we should repeat who were suspected of teering down his not so far, not so far, not so far, tusted by revenge in the whole proceeding. The facts are these : several times during the last three years, threatening or insulting notices have been posted throughout that district, warning the estitlers to leave before a given time. They have always proved to be bogus, and the settlers were tired of seeing such a parade of mockery. It is now claimed that Col. Cowan put up such notices prior to his visit, and that they were torn down for the same reason that others had been, and for this offense the burning penalty was administered to the "ungodly."

Osage Indians, situated farther west, have a similar tract of land, on which the whites have settled to some extent .-The same instructions have been issued to the agents of the respective tribes .-The Osage agent would not molest the inhabitants on their land, and when Col. Cowan ascertained this, he volunteered to put them all off, on condition that he could have the full pay for doing it .-Money, then, has something to do with this outrage, on the part of the agent, but on the part of the Government there is another motive, no less infamous

Another story is told of the agent, that sems in keeping with his other acts. The

In conversation with a very worthy gentleman, Col. Cowan remarked that if the A correspondent of the New York inhabitants now on the neutral lands limes, writing from Mapleton, in this would consent to make the northern lim-Territory, thus describes the outrages its of those lands the southern boundary committed not long since upon the Cher- of Kansas; and also if the people of Kansas would consent to the same bounsults and approbrium the oligarchy has sought to inflict upon us, we shall not quietly permit our State to be dismem bered to aggrandise the South.

The following is from the Fonds (N. Y.) Democrat : There is a blessed country a little bepublicans cease from troubling there, and compassion on him, and bound up his weary Democrats are at rest. An anti- wounds, &c. quated Dobbin, whose benes ought to be picked as clean as those of Democracy, (in charity for Dobbin we say it,) drage an antiquated boat, every four years, to that country, and the boat is laden with on him." 'Thou hast well said. disappointed office seekers, voters, cold and do likewise!" " vietuals, and country editors. It may be that the cause of the voyagers was right; but a generation of wipers defea-ted it. It may be that they look with sorrow on their venerable uncle, Samuel. saying, with no intention of irreverence. "How often would we have gathered our-you wouldn't do ft." We are bound for the political Dixie. Dobbin is fastened to the forward end of pulling opposite ways ; while the expres- do ye even so unto them. sive countenance of J. B. looms up from and several passengers "Thunder and certain Jew, nor a certain white man; Hence we say to those intent on daublightning" by way of variety. With but a certain man. Mothing said about creaking spars and shattered sail, his nationality, or his color.

and a hole in the bottem which Hunt is To inherit eternal life, then, we must Democratic gripes." Our Little Giant cap and torch have been carefully laid aside. We shall not need them any more. They have been on him, require us to harbor and protect in the superlative degree. They are good mementoes of a shadow of a hope that more to man, or in other words, compassion to man, or in other words, compassion that not one in ten will be caught, and after a few years, not one in a hundred. Hence will result reproaches and criminations, charges of broken compacts and bad faith; and the South will be more latitive degree. They are good mementoes of a shadow of a hope that perhaps our boots, but they are very large to "what they used to was." Our firm rewould not have commanded it.

world of change and disappointment.— The enemy cometh in a dark day, in a PARSING .- Why shoold Orr be a dismionist?

Look in the grammer. Orr is always

Charles a training a series of the series of the series

UNDER THE ICE. Whoever wades through the columns of Southern distribes against the North

Under the ice the waters run Under the ice our spirits lie; The genial glow of the Summer sun, Shall loosen their fetters by and by. Moan and groan in thy prison cold, River of life—river of love; The Winter is growing worn and old, The frost is leaving the melting mould
And the one shines bright above.

Under the ice, under the snow, Our lives are bound in a crystal ring; By sad by will the south winds blow, And roses bloom on the banks of Spring Mann and groun in thy fetters strong. River of life-river of love; The nights grow short, the days grow long Weaker and weaker the bonds of wrong, And the sun shines bright above

Under the loe our souls are hid; Under the ice our good deeds grow; Men but credit the wrong we did, Mever the motive that lay below Moan and groun in thy prison cold, The Winter of life is growing old, The frost is leaving the melting mould,

Under the ice that has chilled as through; Oh! that the friends who have known us lo Dare to doubt we are good and true! Moan and groun in thy prison cold, Winter is growing worn and old. Roses stir in the melting mould; We shall be known above.

A Short Sermon by Capt. Montgomery. My brethren, let me here, once for all, disclaim the title of Reverend. I look upon that title as being little less than Text : Luke, 10th chapter, beginning at the 25th verse. "A certain lawyer, tempting him, said, Master, what good must I do to inherit eternal life? And he said, How readest thou? Which is the greatest commandment? And he ly tries, can often hear of him and recovsaid, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God er him: but if he makes a straight pull with all thy heart, with all thy soul, with all thy mind, and with all thy strength, away; because nearly or quite all of us answered well. This do and thou shalt live. But he, being willing to justify himself, said, Who is my neighbor?

salem to Jericho fell among thieves, who reared in a Free State, and gaining his stripped him, leaving him half dead .- livelihood by any form of honest industry, Democratic Dirge-Away For And a certain priest chanced to pass that who does not feel an intense loathing of on the other side. And also a Levite, say of it, with Hazel, "Is thy servant a when he saw him, looked on him and passed by on the other side. But a cerwond Borribools Gha. The wicked Re- tain Samaritan, when he saw him had

"Now, which of these three sayest thou, was neighbor to him that fell among thieves And he said, "He that had compassion

The text, being long, is not fully quo-The question asked by the lawyer one that concerns us all. "What good must I do to inherit eternal life ?" The answer teaches the nature of true religion; that it is something to be done. selves under your wing, O, old boy, and A system of active benevolence. In a word, it is doing right; and "he that doeth right is righteous." It is that system which is illustrated the boat, Douglas is at the helm, and by the Golden Rule; whatsoever ye Breckinridge and Bell are at either end, would that men should do unto you, that the dead head seat, in awful majesty.—

doing right we will all feel right.

The band strikes up, "Hail Salt-River,"

The Savior says a certain man; not trying to cover with the tail of his seedy love God and love our fellow man; our cost, the boat is under weigh and we are brother. "For if a man say he loves gravitation, moral as well as physical. trying to cover with the tail of his seedy love God and love our fellow man; our off. "Away, away, away! were up Salt God, and loves not his brother, he is a All the Personal Liberty acts may be re-River, O!" and the O winds up with liar;" and "all liars have their part in pealed forthwith—that is a small matter —and you may make ever so solemn a new as if for a call for "soothing syrup for stone; which is the second death, the op-was a comfort, but which has gone dead, shalt not deliver unto his master the service flickered out, expired, and classically—and that is escaped from his master unto in the nature of things is impossible.

place to a firm belief in the startling doctrine that things are not as they enght to be.

men. In my next I will prove it.

Meanwhile, he has fallen among thieves who have stripped him; and finding him dark cape, with a black cap and a woel-ly headed guide. Verily he smitsth ter-tan, have compassion on him, that we may have eternal life.

> For SALT RIVER .- The Dug-out, chartered by the Pusionists, starts to-morrow for the head of Salt River. The cabin boy was sent with $25 this morning to "United States Fives have buy the "small stores." He returned while the captain and mate were in the cia Boy is at a discount? eabin taking a "emile," and the following colloquy took place:
>
> Bor—Well, Captain, I've come on board with the "small stores."

CAPTAIN-What have you bought? Boy-I spent twenty-four dellars for whiskey and one dellar for bread.

Carrais—Thunder! What are us The Southern Grievance.

which we daily publish, and the still denser columns thereof furnished by some of our cotemporaries, must perceive that the master grievance therein heaped upon us is our deficient alscrity in catching and returning runaway slaves. Of course, the especial target of malediction is Northern legislation against kidnapping; but that is merely a casual exhibition, under the spur of the Fugitive Slave act and of the Nebraska bill, of the invincible Northern repugnance to playing the part of blood-hound on the track of a frightened and flying woman, who, having had three or four of her children torn from her and sold to Mississippi or Texas, is flying to save the last of her brood from a fate more abhorred than death. We repeat that the gravamen of the offense is Northern repugnance to slave-catching, the particular manifestation given to that repugnance being accidental and inconsequent. The vital, honest, naked truth is, that the mass of the people of the Free States never did heartily co-operate in negro catching, and never will. Had they been inclined to do so, the original Fugitive law of 1798 would have answered every purpose; since they were not and are not, the act of 1850, savage as it is, amounts practically to very little. Of the fugitive slaves who manage to cross Mason and Dixon's line, nine-tenthe get safely to Canada if they really try, as they always did and always will. All the State anti-kidnapping laws have not added a dozen to the number who have thus made good their flight; and if they were all repealed to-morrow, the South would not be profited one stiver. If a fugitive cheoses to hang about our cities from month to month, his master, if he earnestand thy neighbor as thyself. Thou hast are anxious that he should. Now and then some poor tool of a Rynders or De Angelis will embark heartily in the work of slave-catching for the sake of the mon-"A certain man journeying from Jern- ey to be made by it; but there is no man dog that he should do this thing?" The very dry goods jobber who declaims against Personal Liberty acts would loathe himself if he were to join in hunt-ing a fugitive, and would feel a sense of relief and gladness if that fugitive were to get safely off to Canada. Southern politicisns do not comprehand this at least, they persist in talk-Go ing as though they did not. They recognize no difference between hunting a fugacious negro and hunting a strayed or stolen horse, and fanoy that all repugnance to slave-catching is impelled by hatred or envy of the South, or some moral obliquity, when in fact it springe directly from reverence to that Divine law, alike of Nature and of Revelation, which says, "Remember those in bonds as bound with them;" (St. Paul.) "Break every yoke, and let the oppressed go free;" (Isaiah.) "Thou shalt not deliver unto his master the servant who has escaped from his master unto thee; he shall dwell with thee; even among you, in that place which he "This do and thou shalt live ;" and in shall choose in one of thy gates, where it liketh him best; thou shalt not oppress him:" (Deut. xxiii. 15, 16.) You must not ignore Human Nature. a groan, and a screwing of countenances, the lake that burns with fire and brimand you may make ever so solemn a new bargain for the capture and restoration of fugitive slaves; but the upshot will be compacted for the capture and restoration of fugitive slaves; but the upshot will be compacted for the capture and restoration of fugitive slaves; but the upshot will be caught, and after the capture and restoration of fugitive slaves; but the upshot will be caught, and after the capture and restoration of fugitive slaves; but the upshot will be caught, and after the capture and restoration of fugitive slaves; but the upshot will be caught, and after the capture and restoration of fugitive slaves; but the upshot will be caught, and after the capture and restoration of fugitive slaves; but the upshot will be caught, and after the capture and restoration of fugitive slaves; but the upshot will be caught, and after the capture and restoration of fugitive slaves; but the upshot will be caught, and after the capture and restoration of fugitive slaves; but the upshot will be caught.

flickered out, expired, and classically—vameosed.

We cannot be a Little Giant any more.
Our loftness of two or three weeks ago—seen so vividly o' very torch-light nights
—has gone down into somebody's boots, That will gladly consent to a payment by the anada Free States for the exemption of four times the cash value of the slaves annualtake it for granted that the negro is a ly recovered. But all stipulations for greater alscrity and efficiency in slave-hunting on the part of the Free States will prove an illusion and a sham, and so Hence we are opposed to any such under takings.—N. P. Tribune.

OGR STRONG BOX .-- When we reed in the money articles of the daily press that "United States Fives have gone down," are we, therefore, to infer that the Beni-

The New York Tribune, speaking of Administration organe, says they are like spoiled babies, alternately sucking and equalling. It might add, they all have a filial fondness for pap.

A Day Goone View or the Case.— whiskey and one dollar for bread.

Because we hear of the fall of stocks, that is no reason why we should feer for the going to do suth so much bread?—Albany they paid $30,000. It will work 20,000 ties of the Union.